

This week for Recreate, we look at artist Jared Bark and his series of works titled 'Photo booth'. Bark worked with different mediums including performance and photography to look at everyday movements. He often incorporated a sense of humour into his compositions, moving body parts around a grid formation to create new images.

TIP: Download a FREE app such as PicCollage to arrange you photos. You can rotate the same image or take it from different angles.

You can either try to replicate it exactly as it is, or you can take inspiration and recreate your own!
